C. ASBESTOS IN EL DORADO COUNTY: The El Dorado County Air Quality Management District (District) regulates Naturally Occurring Asbestos. However, the District has not been delegated the authority to regulate demolition or renovation of facilities that may contain asbestos containing building materials. The California Air Resources Board (CARB) regulates facility demolition and renovation by requiring notification, conducting inspections, investigating complaints, collecting asbestos samples and taking enforcement actions. In this context "Facility" means any institutional, commercial, public, industrial or building containing condominiums or individual dwelling units operated as a residential cooperative (but excluding residential buildings having four or fewer dwelling units); and any active or inactive waste disposal site Facility owners and operators must notify CARB at least 10 days prior to any demolition or renovation activity.

Naturally Occurring Asbestos (NOA) in El Dorado County: Naturally Occurring Asbestos is prevalent in at least 44 of California's 58 counties. Asbestos is the name for a group of naturally occurring silicate minerals. Asbestos may be found in serpentine, other ultramafic and volcanic rock. Serpentine is the California State Rock. When rock containing NOA is broken or crushed, asbestos may be released and become airborne, causing a potential health hazard.

El Dorado County Air Quality Management rule 223-2: Requires activities to reduce asbestos dust created from earth moving activities. An Asbestos Dust mitigation plan must be prepared, submitted, approved and implemented when more than 20 cubic yards of earth will be moved at all sites identified as being in an Asbestos Review Area.

Additional information may be found on the El Dorado County Air Quality Management District's website at: <https://www.edcgov.us/Government/AirQualityManagement/Pages/asbestos.aspx>

D. "Agricultural operations" means activities relating to agricultural use including, but not limited to, the cultivation and tillage of the soil, the burning of agricultural waste products or other agricultural burning, protection of crops and livestock from insects, pests, diseases, birds, predators or other pests damaging or could potentially damage crops, the proper and lawful use of agricultural chemicals, including but not limited to the application of pesticides and fertilizers, or the raising, production, irrigation, pruning, harvesting, or processing of an agricultural commodity, including any type of crop or livestock, and any forestry improvements and timber harvesting and processing. Seller and Buyer are advised to consult with the County to ensure that all requirements of the ordinance will be complied with and that the ordinance will not affect Buyer's intended uses of the property. J. PURCHASE OF NON-SUBDIVISION/RURAL PROPERTY: Many properties offered for sale in El Dorado County are rural properties (one acre or larger) or lots that were not developed as part of a planned unit subdivision. A Buyer purchasing such properties should more fully investigate (a) the need for a survey to accurately determine boundaries and parcel size; (b) the existence of easements and encroachments which may or may not be of public record; (c) the quality and quantity of well water if well water is used; (d) the condition of any septic system; (e) if access is by a private road whether there is a recorded right-of-way and a road maintenance agreement in place; (f) the location of any mine shafts on the property and the hazards posed thereby; (g) any special requirements due to wild fire hazards; (h) whether a Certificate of Compliance may be needed before a building permit may be obtained; (i) whether the abandoned Southern Pacific Railroad right-of-way to be developed by the County for recreational use is near the property; and (j) whether the existence of a well or a septic system on a neighboring property may impact the use of the subject property. The above issues often involve title and legal opinions or require investigation, survey, and evaluation by an appropriate professional, which evaluations real estate agents are not qualified to render or perform.

K. RECORDING FEE ALLOCATION: As per the California State Government Code 27388, the El Dorado County Board of Supervisors adopted Resolution 015-2009 that set a $3.00 fee to be attached with the recording of certain real estate instruments. The fees are placed into a real estate trust fund and primarily utilized by the District Attorney to pay for the costs incurred for the prevention of real estate fraud. These costs include educating the public through various media venues as well as providing funding for the investigation and prosecution of persons involved in real estate fraud. Should an individual who resides within the County of El Dorado encounter what they perceive to possibly be some type of real estate fraud, they should contact the District Attorney's Office at 866-629-0171, or visit their website at: <https://www.eldoradoda.com/programs/fraud/>

As a landowner, how am I affected by agricultural activities?

Ranch Marketing

Ranchers and farmers have the right to sell agricultural products directly to consumers at on-site locations and at Certified Farmer's Markets. Product marketing activities include packaging, processing, and on-site sale of agricultural products produced in the County. Other ranch marketing activities include tours, riding and biking access, fishing, and picnicking. Even with the impacts caused by normal farming practices and on-site marketing (traffic congestion, evening activity/noise, etc.), area residents continue to strongly support agriculture in El Dorado County. This support acknowledges the value of the rural qualities of life and economic vitality that agriculture brings to the community.

Ag/Urban Interface

Conflicts can arise when urban/residential parcels encroach upon or abut agricultural lands. Examples of routine agricultural activities that can be perceived as annoyances by residential neighbors include timber harvesting and transport, early morning or evening farming activities, and the associated noise and activities related to raising livestock. El Dorado County has implemented many sound land use planning strategies to help prevent these ag/urban conflicts. In addition, farmers and ranchers are also protected by the Right to Farm Ordinance that ensures continuation of normal operations without the threat of being declared a nuisance.

One of the land use planning mechanisms is the designation of Agricultural Districts which are intended to maintain viable agricultural-based communities and encourage the expansion of agricultural activities and production.

Other land use/zoning elements have been designed to protect agricultural lands including setbacks and buffers. Good land use planning is always the best approach to avoiding land use conflicts. When problems do arise, the Agricultural Commission reviews issues concerning agricultural lands and makes recommendations to the Planning Commission and/or the Board of Supervisors.

Right to Farm Ordinance

In 1988, El Dorado County approved an ordinance to protect ranchers and farmers from nuisance complaints by adjoining property owners. The Right to Farm Ordinance protects producers when conducting normal agricultural operations including cultivation, burning, spraying, fertilizing, irrigation, harvesting, processing, and activities associated with raising livestock (e.g. noise, flies, manure). Prior to the implementation of the Ordinance, producers were sometimes forced to curtail or cease operations, or were discouraged from making investments in farm improvements because of nuisance complaints. The Ordinance helps to protect the economic viability of individual farms and of the County's agricultural industry as a whole. For more information on the Right to Farm Ordinance, contact the Agricultural Commission office: (530) 621-5520.

Water Quality

Water quality issues related to agriculture are regulated by the Central Valley Regional Water Quality Control Board (Board). As a result of the Board's adoption of the Conditional Waivers of Waste Discharge Requirements for Discharges from Irrigated Lands, agricultural landowners and operators are required to obtain regulatory coverage for their waste discharges.

By joining the El Dorado County Agricultural Watershed Group, landowners and operators will receive the benefit of being covered under the Conditional Waiver without having to obtain an individual discharge permit. The Group also provides Conservation Planning Technical Assistance such as erosion control, integrated pest management, and irrigation management to ensure continued protection of water quality in El Dorado County watersheds.

El Dorado County Rural Quality of Life

Many residents of El Dorado County moved to the area because of the rural lifestyle. These rural features provide a haven from the hectic pace of urban life. The wildlife habitat, open space and rural qualities provided by privately-owned agricultural lands add to the quality of life that we treasure in El Dorado County. In addition, over one-half of our lands are publicly owned forest and wilderness areas. These lands provide us with recreational opportunities and timber products, which are vital to the local economy and quality of life.

With the increase in County population, agricultural lands have been lost. From 1960 to 2005, agricultural production acreage has decreased by 58%. To protect the remaining agricultural lands and support their economic viability, land use planning and ordinances have been employed to recognize and enhance the quality of life that agriculture brings to El Dorado County.
